It is my privilege, as President, to introduce the Thirteenth Annual Report and Financial Statement of the University of New South Wales Cricket Club for the year 1962-1963.

In many respects, this year was the most successful the Club has ever had. The team in the A Division of the Municipal and Shires Competition was among the leading group throughout the season and reached the semi-finals. The team in the B Division was also in the running for the semi-finals until late in the season and must be regarded as rather unlucky not to have occupied higher than fifth place in the final table. The two City and Suburban teams won more than their fair share of matches and when at full strength were capable of holding their own with all but the very strongest teams in that Association. There were the usual difficulties in fielding strong teams during the vacation but they were not as acute as in previous seasons.

The University participated very successfully in the Inter-Varsity Cricket Carnival in Tasmania, winning one of its three matches and performing creditably in at least one of the others. We all offer our sincerest congratulations to the three members of the Club who were selected in the Australian Universities team - John Clegwyn and Peter Ward, from Kensington and Royce Levi, the Newcastle wicket-keeper.

The records of the various teams are given in the pages that follow, together with accounts of other formal and informal matches played by the Club. It is pleasing to be able to say that the Club has now something like a regular programme of matches against the Wollongong and Newcastle University Colleges together with a series of social matches. Such a game as the one against Knox College gives great pleasure to those involved and may be thought to provide the best possible kind of contact between the University Club and players from a school that may well contribute to our own future strength in both the academic and the sporting spheres.

The second Annual Dinner was held in the University Union and again was a complete social success. The Club offers its thanks to the great test player of former years, Mr. Bert Oldfield, and to an old friend, test umpire George Borwick, for proposing so ably the toasts of Cricket and the Club.

I should like to conclude this introduction by expressing my most genuine gratitude to the members of the Committee, to the Secretary, Treasurer, and Teams Secretary, the four Club Captains, to the hard working, conscientious and co-operative groundsman and to the Amenities Officer, Mr. Cracknell. These are the men who serve the Club without any other form of thanks and without expectation of any other reward than the efficient running of Club affairs and the maintenance of the best possible spirit within the Club. Their efforts in the past season have met with unqualified success.

PROFESSOR H.J. OLIVER.

1ST XI REPORT.

The 1st XI had its most successful season since entering the Municipal and Shires Competition, and won its way to the semi-final. Of the thirteen matches played four were lost on the first innings, one drawn and eight won (one outright). The team was not markedly different in composition from last year's side, and the better results achieved were due to its members playing more consistently (though not consistently enough) in accordance with their real ability. With more confidence, a little more concentration at critical moments, and half an ounce of luck here and there, results might have been even better. This team has the talent to win the competition. With the new blood that is becoming available, and a blend of youth and experience, it is difficult to see how it can fail to gain the prize for which it strove so much more effectively this year.

There is no player so good that practice will not make him better. With the exception of a few students, attendance at practice was disappointing, and, even when a sufficient muster was present, poor organisation prevented the best use being made of it. In particular, there was inadequate control of bowlers and not enough fielding practice. It was noticeable that of all the University teams the 1st XI was the poorest in representation at the nets. In this connection it may be observed that part of the strength of the side this season came from the number of talented players in the 2nd XI who often performed as well as those whom they replaced from time to time. Selection was sometimes a difficult problem this year, and it is a good augury for the future that there are now so many players of 1st XI standard in the club.

The team began the season with a narrow win over Pennant Hills and a small first innings deficit against Bexley. Thereafter it won all its games with the exception of those against Auburn, the competition winners, Epping, the runners up, and Burwood, a strong but unlucky side.

It turned the tables on Bexley in the 12th round, but could not do the same with Epping in the rain-affected semi-final. The loss of the first three wickets for four runs in this vital match proved a handicap that could not be overcome, despite good batting by E. Lesleighter and J. Middleton and some aggressive bowling. On the second day, bags, shovels and even a pump were used by groundsman and players to make a little play possible, but all the equipment of the Snowy Mountains Scheme would not have rendered cricket possible during the floods on both days of the final competition match against Roseville.

M. Reidy returned to form with a series of graceful and aggressive innings in the first part of the season. His wristful 84 against Lane Cove put the side in a winning position, and his departure overseas after the tenth round left a gap which was difficult to fill, despite good performances by J. Chegwyn and E. Lesleighter, who joined the 1st XI during his absence. The team consistently made runs for the third and fourth wickets, but batting was erratic in other parts of the order. M. Kemp continued his unbroken run of successes from the 2nd XI, but struck a bad patch after the Ryde game - unhappily the period of Reidy's absence. With impeccable defence and a swatting square cut for the rising ball on the off, he stabilized the upper batting order and were held.

As vice-captain, J. Middleton was a source of strength. The team was a happy one and responded well to whatever demands were made. Sometimes the state of competition points made us play more negatively than we would have wished - as in our dour crawl to victory against Bexley in the twelfth round. For the most part we set out to win as attractively as we could, and I fancy that, besides registering some success, we enjoyed our cricket.

J.H.M. SALMON.

2nd XI Report - 1962-63.

The report written in the middle of the season, would, unfortunately, be somewhat different to this retrospective report. I think that most Club members know of the fluctuating fortunes of the team during the 1962/63 season: a period of success, followed by a period of "misfortune." The lack of success was probably due, in yet another season, to the long vacation with its subsequent disorganisation of the various teams. Throughout the season more than 30 members played in the team, but let me hasten to add that the individual talents of all of these players were equal: what was lacking was the rigid framework and teamwork established during the initial stages of the season. I well realise that such reshuffling of teams during the long vacation must always be a factor in University teams but I am emphasising the point as I am certain that the initial success of the team was due not so much to individual performances as to integrated team performances. If someone failed, then there was always someone to back up and eliminate the failure.

I perhaps sound a little too dismal, but I am sure that there was disappointment at not reaching the semi-finals. On the other hand, I think two features were outstanding, and I think they did nothing to lessen the stature of the University: the behaviour of the team on the field and the type of cricket played. I hope that we played cricket as it should be played (and at times it was unfortunate that the opposition did not have a similar philosophy). In this regard I again do not intend to mention individual performances; the scoring of more than 300 runs in an afternoon speaks for itself and the team's approach to the game.

I remain an optimist, I hope that the team in the coming season will have even more success - but it could surely not be a better team than I had the pleasure of captaining in this last season.

PHIL SCHOFIELD.
CAPTAIN.

CAPTAIN'S REPORT.

CITY & SUBURBAN "A" TEAM.

This Season we started out in fine style. In fact, it appeared, at one stage, that we might be unbeatable. This was due, largely, to some beautiful bowling by Laurie Lawrence, and "Neil Harvey Type" batting by Eric Lesleighter.

The Season settled down, however, and our team met the usual C & S Team - seasoned, experienced, wily cricketers. From this time on, we played cricket in the traditional University of New South Wales style - 60 runs by one of our batsman, all out for 90. But, we enjoyed ourselves immensely.

We saw, for instance, a grand batting performance by Laurie Lawrence at Randwick Oval - 83 runs 16 boundaries.

I must mention a few individual performances which typified the attitude of all members involved in the C & S "A" team during the season.

Remember these?

A beautiful catch behind the wickets by Harold Oliver at Birchgrove Oval?

That great inning by Eric Lesleighter at Randwick Oval against Radio Physics - 62 runs 8 boundaries, including 2 sixes (lost the ball the first time) Clem Barrington's great keeping - and the way Clem believes that when you hit the ball YOU RUN. Ray Bayfield's bowling - one of the unluckiest swing bowlers I've seen. Remember Ray's best cricket shot when batting? - over the bowlers head for six. Peter Conyngham's great off-drive. It amazed a lot of people, and Norm O'Neill would be proud of it.

One incident comes to mind. Tom Sullivan had played C & S "A"s, "B"s and M & S "B"s for the past four or five weeks. We were playing at Randwick Oval. I happened to be at the bowlers end and Tom was striking. At this stage he had five consecutive "blobs" to his name, and was scratching around at the other end. Before the next ball, the bowler sat down to adjust his boots. Tom walked down the wicket to me and said "I've had this." Up ran the bowler for the next ball. He hadn't quite completed his action when the ball bounced (clobbered by Tom) ten yards from Basser College, and it took five minutes to find it.

Congratulations to Terry Gibson - some great batting, and off-spinning, and to John Tainsh who kept wickets in really fine style.

John Collings was the mainstay of the bowling throughout the Season. John bowled, every match, absolutely unplayable deliveries, and, you will all agree, deserves a special mention. His "kangaroo hop" ball upset all batsmen. John was never happy about finishing his long fast bowling spell and on more than one occasion, "steadied" down to taking wickets with his off-spinners. Well done, John!

Thank you C & S "A" for making my job an easy one.

DARRYL LACEY.

CAPTAIN'S REPORT.

CITY & SUBURBAN "B" TEAM.

The Season saw a further improvement in the team's performances as the results which are set out below reveal.

Matches.	Won	Lost	Cancelled.
19	7	6	6

In fact this was by far the team's most successful season, especially if it is noted that the margin between wins and losses could have been wider, as two matches were lost by 2 and 6 runs respectively. The team's overall performance was as follows:

Runs for	Wickets Lost	Average.
1482	109	14.25
Runs against	Wickets Taken.	Average.
1552	119	13.61.

Our batting this year was much better than our efforts of the previous season proving more reliable and consistent and I would say that this was the prime factor in the team's improved results.

Of the batsmen it is difficult to single out any particular players as nearly everyone at some time or another contributed a more than useful score. However, mention must be made of Peter Conyngham who, even though he played only six matches with the "B"s topped the team's averages and aggregates, and then went on to win the Combined City & Suburban batting trophy.

Individual scores of note were Tom Sullivan 71, Peter Conyngham 67, Barry Andrews 63 n.o., Bruce Dockrill 55 n.o., John Tainsh 47 and Ken Deasy 43. Unfortunately for us Tom Sullivan and Peter Conyngham were lost to the "A" side and Barry Andrews was "on loan" from the Shires for only one match.

The bowling maintained the high standard of last season, and again Bruce Dockrill took the honours in this department securing 24 wickets at an average of 8.6, twice he captured seven wickets in an innings, and it was a fitting reward that he should win the Combined City & Suburban bowling trophy.

The team's fielding was very good, and gave fine support to the bowlers and it was pleasing to see a continuation of this trend from last year.

These were the good features of the season. Now for the "not so good." The problem of taking the field short-handed was still with us and although not quite as bad as before it was nevertheless apparent. I can't express too strongly on members the necessity of giving the selectors ample notice of unavailability. In this regard I would like to take this opportunity of thanking Ted Oliver who was always willing to help us out at short notice.

In conclusion I would like to extend to every member of the team my sincere thanks, for their support and co-operation throughout the season, and I feel confident that 1963/64 will prove even more successful.

JOHN HALL.

INTER-VARSITY CARNIVAL, 1963.

The University of Tasmania was host in February for the first Australian Universities Cricket Carnival. The competing universities were Queensland, Sydney, New South Wales, Melbourne and Tasmania, the general principles of the Carnival being the meeting, under most congenial conditions, of University cricketers from the various states and the matches against Universities not normally encountered in the Inter-Varsity fixtures of the individual Universities. The matches were played over one day, with split batting time if necessary, and a point score competition devised accordingly.

Unfortunately, only 3 of the 4 matches were played, the last match being abandoned because of inclement weather. In this reduced competition, Melbourne finished in first position.

The New South Wales team consisted of: P. Schofield (Capt.) R. Levi (N.U.C.), (Vice Capt.) P. Ward, J. Chegwyn, A. Taylor, G. Sutcliffe (N.U.C.), D. Lacey, H. Boulton, G. Bastock, G. Garland, J. Pigott and I. Lowe. It can be said that this team acquitted itself well. According to a Hobart newspaper, the team was "an unknown quantity", but the general opinion was that the team would not be among the favoured teams, those of the longer established Universities. However, the University of New South Wales produced several shocks and certainly established itself among the other Universities. One fact speaks for itself. At the conclusion of the Carnival an Australian Universities Team was selected on the basis of performances at the Carnival as recognition to the outstanding players. No less than 3 University of New South Wales players were selected in this teams: John Chegwyn (opening batsman), Peter Ward (all-rounder) and Royce Levi (Wicket keeper). To these players the team, and I am sure the Club, offers sincere congratulations. It is also my pleasure to assure the members of this Club that their representatives in Hobart played in a manner which brought credit to the University.

1. U.N.S.W. v SYDNEY.

The first match, against Sydney, was played under hot drying conditions. In these circumstances, Sydney elected to bat. Then came the first of the N.S.W. jolts when the first four Sydney wickets fell for less than 20 runs. However, the pressure could not be maintained and as the pitch dried out, Sydney's middle batsmen consolidated their position, the team ultimately scoring 189. New South Wales did not get away to a good start in the chase for the necessary runs, but opening batsman John Chegwyn gave the first of a series of fine batting displays. Although the struggle was serious, and wickets continued to fall, at all times the batting was bright; the game was tense and the issue in doubt until the fall of the last wicket. Unfortunately N.S.W. failed to catch Sydney's total by 38 runs, and although beaten on the first innings, certainly gave a most creditable performance.

2. U.N.S.W. v QUEENSLAND.

Because the usual 3 day Inter-Varsity match against Queensland had been cancelled, it was decided by both Universities that the Carnival Match against Queensland would, in fact, be the regular inter-varsity match, although of only 1 day duration.

N.S.W. batted first on a moist pitch in conditions which, although fine, clearly showed prospects of coming rain. In this morning session the batting was quite slow owing to accurate bowling and a slow outfield. At this stage Peter Ward was proving to be the backbone of the batting, playing soundly in a much restrained manner. By lunch, however, New South Wales was not in a happy position; owing to the slow scoring, only approximately 100 runs were on the board, with only three wickets and sixty minutes in hand, and the rain beginning to fall - a most unpromising outlook! It was not to be so. In the after lunch session, a most amazing change in the game occurred. In a bid for quick runs, Ward proceeded to thrash the bowling in no uncertain manner. At the other end, the three final batsmen, Boulton, Schofield, and Garland, played sensible supporting roles, with the result that at the completion of the time, the lunch score had been doubled for the loss of only a further two wickets, and Ward had finished with a wonderful 84 not out.

Tribute must be paid to the Queensland team for the manner in which they played. Although rain was beginning to fall quite steadily and the pitch was becoming very wet, they accepted the challenge and from the very first ball, they went for the runs. Two quick wickets fell, but then Queensland started to consolidate. However, this was to be Peter Ward's match; two wickets in one over, and the rout had started. The remainder of the team collapsed against Ward's fine bowling. The final scores: Queensland, 1st innings 55, Ward - 4-3.

Although the weather conditions were now very poor, Queensland batted again but averted an innings defeat. New South Wales thus scored a convincing 1st innings win.

3. U.N.S.W. v MELBOURNE.

In retrospect, this was a most unfortunate match for I am sure that the fate of the match depended solely on the fate of the toss. At the start of the match, weather conditions were appalling; cold winds and rain, and a pitch absolutely saturated by overnight rain. Melbourne won the toss and elected not to bat.

The New South Wales first innings can be summarised very briefly: a debacle. The innings began as would be expected under the conditions - a few quick wickets for few slowly scored runs. But then ... Medium pace bowler Luk found his length, and with the combination of the ball kicking and the fields correspondingly packed close to the bat, the New South Wales batsmen just could not cope with the conditions. In a catastrophic display, New South Wales finished with a mere 48 runs, and Melbourne bowler Luk with the magnificent figures of 8-20, including four wickets in four balls.

This was not to be New South Wales' match. As Melbourne began their innings, the weather began to clear, and Melbourne, sensing victory, started correctly in a cautious and careful manner. In this session, the New South Wales bowling was not accurate and well controlled, and so failed to make any substantial breakthroughs. By the after lunch session the pitch was drying rapidly and Melbourne lost no time in taking full advantage of this. By using hard hitting tactics, they scored quickly against bowling which was virtually trying too hard to be effective. Melbourne then closed at 2 for 171.

New South Wales batted again but under these very different conditions, the debacle was not repeated and the innings defeat averted.

4. U.N.S.W. v TASMANIA.

Most unfortunately, this match was abandoned because of the inclement weather. "Most unfortunately", I say, because both teams were looking forward to this match, as they have the same approach to the game. I should just like to add a personal note that I think it a great pity that this Club has not yet played against Tasmania.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES vs UNIVERSITY OF NEW ENGLAND.

Played at Armidale 18th, 19th, and 20th February, 1963.

Won by University of New South Wales by 1 innings and 33 runs.

University of New South Wales: 396 University New England
111 and 252.

The University side comprised seven (7) players from Sydney viz., Tim Creer (Capt) Peter Ward (V.C) Don Clark, John Pigott, Geoff Garland, Harris Boulton, and Ian Lowe, three from Newcastle University College, Bob Anderson, Derek Rogers, and Mike MacLeod, and one from Wollongong University College, Ian Mackay.

We were very fortunate in winning the toss and batting on a perfect wicket. Despite an early setback (1-21) the last N.S.W. wicket fell just before stumps with a huge total of 396 runs on the board. Easily the most outstanding feature of the day was John Pigott's 101 in 108 mins., a magnificent innings. Don Clark (92), and Tim Creer (82) also put up excellent performances, the former being unfortunately run out when his Century seemed certain.

There was heavy overnight rain and play did not begin till 1.35 p.m. on the second day. The rain had made the pitch quite treacherous and the local team were soon in trouble. They had lost 2-9 when Bob Myers came to the crease and it was only due to his wonderful knock of 52 that New England was able to score 111, which left them 285 behind.

Forced to follow on, New England were 2-81 minutes before stumps when Geoff Garland took 2-0 in eleven balls, including the wicket of Myers to leave the home team 4-81 at the end of play.

The pitch had returned to normal for the third day and the visitors received unexpected opposition. Ian McGill batted stubbornly for 48, while Don Duff-Forbes showed his true ability after his "duck" in the first innings to notch a valuable 93 runs. Neil MacDonald batted well for 30, and it looked as though we would have to bat again with the score at 6-230, but the "tail" folded when the new ball was taken.

In the New England first innings, best bowling figures were recorded by Ian Mackay with 4-25, and Peter Ward took 3-31.

In their second innings Geoff Garland 3-22, Peter Ward 4-73 and En Lowe 2-48 took the honours.

The match was played in an excellent atmosphere and it was mainly because of the inclement weather that the visitors were able to run out such easy winners.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES vs NEWCASTLE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

Played at MacDougall Field, N.U.C. December, 1962.

This fixture was the first of two Inter-Varsity trials as well as being the first of our two annual fixtures against Newcastle.

TEAMS. University of New South Wales.

T. Creer (Capt) A. Taylor, J. Piggett, G. Bastock, H. Boulton, D. Brown, J. Bryan, G. Garland, I. Lowe, R. Dews, I. King.

Newcastle University College.

D. March (Capt) H. Walton, A. Nelmes, D. Rogers, B. Paddock, K. Clifford, R. Anderson, H. Bradford, M. MacLeod, P. Thompson.

Although a social fixture, this match was also a trial for the selection of the University of New South Wales sides for Inter-Varsity fixtures later in the season. Newcastle batted first on a dead pitch, and after Howard Walton was run out, Rogers, March and Paddock all took heavy toll of an uninspired University of New South Wales bowling attack. Although Lowe, Bryan and particularly Garland all bowled well in patches, the Newcastle batsmen were, in the main, untroubled to score freely. Derek Rogers' fine century was the first on record in one of these fixtures and at no stage did he seem troubled, as he hammered our bowlers to all quarters of the ground.

The Newcastle total of 6-195 (cl.) was beyond the reach of our batsmen despite a sound opening partnership of 47 between Creer and a promoted Ian King, who displayed far more ability than his normal position in the batting order would indicate. Only Alex Taylor, of the other recognised batsmen, got going, and although some members of the team's long tail hit lustily the side was all out for 140, against an attack that was accurate, but lacked penetration.

As a selection trial, the match marked Rogers as a certainty for Tasmania, although later he had to withdraw from that side, but revealed a lack of penetrative bowlers from both Clubs. However, as neither side was at full strength, the match was not a complete guide to the selectors.

SCORES:

Newcastle University College 6-195 (cl.) (D. Rogers 102, B.

Eddock 24) defeated University of New South Wales 140 (I. King 27, A. Taylor, 24, T. Creer 22) by 55 runs.

T. CREER.

NEWCASTLE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE vs UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES

at Kensington on 10/2/63.

TEAMS: University of New South Wales.

T. Creer (Capt) P. Ward, A. Taylor, J. Pigott,
R. Wimhurst, G. Garland, L. Maltman, I. Lowe,
H. Boulton, J. Chegwyn.

Newcastle University College.

W. Brock (Capt) R. Anderson, A. Nelmes, D. Rogers,
K. Rowlands, K. Clifford, M. Macleod, K. Pilgrim.

In the return match at Kensington, University of New South Wales defeated Newcastle University College by 2 runs on the first innings. University of New South Wales batted first on a damp wicket off which the ball rose awkwardly and after 28 minutes lost their second batsmen John Chegwyn, who was batting impressively, when he was hit in the face and taken to hospital. With the score at 1-17, John Pigott joined Peter Ward and after a slow start proceeded to annihilate the attack until, with the score at 97, he was caught behind off W. Brock for 70 (12 fours) made in 84 minutes. After Ward was bowled for 24, the remaining batsmen found it difficult to score off medium-pacer Rowlands and the innings was closed at 8-148.

Newcastle opened carefully on the now dead wicket but with the score at 48 Nelmes and Rogers were run out. When, however, the score was 5-136 Newcastle seemed assured of victory, but then Peter Ward took the next three wickets for five runs and Newcastle were unable to score the necessary total. For University of New South Wales Peter Ward finished with 5-53 and bowled well. Behind the stumps Lister Maltman kept magnificently for University of New South Wales.

University of New South Wales 8-148 (Pigott 70, Ward 24, Rowlands 5-22) defeated Newcastle University College 9-146 (Rowlands 40, Anderson 35, Ward 5-53).

UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES vs WOLLONGONG UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

9/12/62.

University of New South Wales Team.

T. Creer (Capt), J. Chegwyn, G. Bastock, J. Figott, B. Andrews, A. Taylor, P. Ward, D. Brown, G. Garland, B. Dockrill, J. Bryan L. Maltman, A. Conomos.

On 9th December, University of New South Wales travelled to Balgownie to play their Annual Intra-Varsity match against Wollongong University College.

Wollongong won the toss and surprisingly elected to bat on a very wet and sometimes dangerous pitch, and after 45 minutes were 6-38 with Ward (4-15) using the wicket very well. Although Wollongong rallied slightly they were never comfortable and were dismissed at lunch for 95.

After lunch Chegwyn and Bastock batted extremely well, after an initial set-back, and were at no stage worried by the Wollongong attack. Endeavouring to force an outright win Captain Creer closed the innings at 1-99. Responding to the challenge Wollongong forced the pace and closed at 7-117 after 70 minutes batting leaving University of New South Wales 73 minutes to score 114 runs for victory. This was achieved in the last over for the loss of 8 wickets. For University of New South Wales Peter Ward bowled well to take 4-15 and 2-12 and John Chegwyn batted excellently for 50 n.o.

University of New South Wales 1-99 (dec) (Chegwyn 50 n.o., Bastock 38 n.o.) and 8-117 (Brown 24, Bastock 22, Andrews 18) defeated Wollongong University College 95 (Ward 4-15, Garland 2-5, Bastock 2-10) and 7-117 (dec) (Delavere 47, Ward 2-12) by two wickets.

GAMES v PADDINGTON.

The University is fortunate in having such friends and supporters of its cricket in the Paddington Club. E. Stockdale and S. Gilchrist are foremost among those who have encouraged us to aspire to grade status and provided us with practice against senior grade players.

The first pre-season match with Paddington was hardly a test, since the wicket was unsuitable for play, and the game was conducted on a freshly cut adjacent strip of turf. The University had the best of this encounter. The second game took place at the end of the season when the weather was scarcely more propitious. Again, there was a strong contingent of senior players in the Paddington side. On this occasion the time was divided and the visitors scored 9-122 at the close with Stockdale hitting a carefree 44. Though S. Gilchrist took five wickets, the pace bowling of Nicholson held no terrors for our batsmen, and the score was 4-106 (R. Smith, A. Taylor, D. Clark, J. Pigott, all reaching double figures,) when it became apparent that time was running out. In the ensuing flurry five wickets were sacrificed before the winning run was hit in the last over of the day.

TESTIMONIAL GAME TO REIDY & LUCAS 6/1/63.

As part of the New Year Festivities for the University of New South Wales Cricket Club, a match was played at the Kensington Oval to farewell two of our most popular players, Rob Lucas and Mick Reidy, who left for England at the end of January.

Despite the vicious bowling of Lowe, Reidy's XI batted very well on a good wicket. Chegwyn batted very elegantly for 44 whilst Reidy (2) Pigott (38) Oliver (29) and Barrington (19 not out) provided a good middle order lineup which enabled Reidy's XI to total 199. Wickets were shared equally by the Lucas team bowlers, some being the most expensive, and Lucas the most accurate.

After lunch, Lucas' XI set about the task of scoring 200 to win. Creer (31) laid the firm foundations for a big score, while Hall (32) Clark (27) and Garland (unluckily run out for 25) batted aggressively. In an exciting finish, a brilliant throw by Taylor from silly point, caused the fall of the Lucas' XI's last wicket, and so an amazing tie was effected. For Reidy's XI, the well controlled three-pronged Spin attack of Barr (2-46) Taylor (2-10) and Andrews (2-25) proved difficult to encounter.

After the match a very enjoyable social evening was held at which Reidy's XI had the only victory of the day. I am sure that the Club will all join with me in wishing Mick and Rob all the very best for the remainder of their trip, and we hope they are ready to "pad" up again when they return.

STUDENTS vs STAFF.

In the last match of the season, the Students were held to a thrilling draw by the Staff side. John Chegwyn (45) and Bob Smith (41) opened for the Students and batted extremely well to have 84 runs on the board in 52 minutes. John Pigott carried on to score a hard hitting 50, and was ably supported by Alex Taylor (32). Once again Peter Ward was unable to master the swing and spin of Stan Livingstone and after several lucky escapes was caught by keeper Clem Barrington off this bowler for six. For the Staff Laurie Lawrence bowled well to take 3-28 and Clem Barrington secured two stumpings and a catch.

The Staff were quickly in trouble when Students Captain John Middleton dismissed Murray Kemp, Stan Livingstone and Jock Salmon in 2 overs for 1 run with Barry Andrews standing bravely alone for 12 (3 fours) against the opening attack. With the score at 4-18 Laurie Lawrence joined Phil Schofield and with determined batting they took the score to 76 before Lawrence was caught in the deep for an excellent 36. Schofield went 29 minutes later for a fighting 41. Although spinners Don Clark and Bob Smith captured several wickets cheaply towards the end, the Staff side was able to hold out for a draw.

Students 6-197 (Chegwyn 45, Smith 41, Pigott 50, Taylor 32, Lawrence 3-28 (drew with Staff 9-133 (Schofield 41, Lawrence 36, Andrews 12, Sundries 25, Middleton 3-21, Clark 2-6, Smith 2-17)

UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES vs

KNOX COLLEGE.

This match, played in early December, produced a most exciting finish.

Knox College won by one run, 155 to 154, with their Captain hitting the winning run, only to be bowled next ball.

We would certainly like to see some of their team in our Club. Their opening bowler, Scamps, was excellent. Very fast, he moved the ball both ways in the air and off the wicket. This bowling earned him 7 wickets for 36 runs off 11 overs. Their opening batsman, Bellhouse, in scoring 40 runs, played delightful shots all round the wicket.

University, batting first, were in trouble at 3 for 40. Then came Eric Lesleighter who showed us just what a glorious strokemaker he can be. His driving was a delight to watch. Eric hit 9 fours, and a huge six over long-on, in scoring 80 runs.

Our bowlers deserve a mention also.

Laurie Lawrence bowled 20 overs, taking 5 for 40, and John Bryan 17 overs, 3 for 56.

Laurie was at his best - perfect length, and doing everything with the ball. John Bryan produced some of his best bowling, at times most "hostile," and getting a deal of lift from the wicket.

It was a most enjoyable day, with lunch in the Union, and we hope that this match will become an Annual Event.

STAFF MATCH AGAINST NEWCASTLE.

At the welcome suggestions of the Newcastle staff, on Sunday 10th February, while the regular Inter-Varsity match was being played on the University Oval, a staff team from the Kensington campus, under the captaincy of the President, played a match against the staff of Newcastle University College. Even with the contribution of 49 (run out) from Harry Bradford - not, even so, in his best form - Newcastle could total only 119. After the early break through by Schofield, Dayfield and Birkett, four other bowlers were given a chance and shared the wickets. After Kemp (47 retired), Salmon (35, sacrificed) and Stalley (33 retired) had taken the score past the Newcastle total, the later batsmen (and there were many) were able to take things lightly and the innings closed with a nominal 166.

The Kensington staff hope that this will become a regular fixture and are under no illusion that they will score as easy a victory another time - particularly if they have to make the 100 mile journey to Newcastle first.

FRESHER'S REPORT.

On February, 28th, during Orientation Week, the Cricket Club held a practice for all freshers interested in playing cricket. Test players Bobby Simpson and Gordon Rorke were invited and practiced with Club members and intending players. In all about 50 freshers turned out to practice and some showed considerable promise although unaccustomed to the Kensington "turf."

A match was arranged for the freshers on Sunday, March, 10th, but the attendance was very disappointing, only about 15 freshers attending. A further match was arranged but this was unfortunately washed out.

A number of freshers were subsequently picked in the City & Suburban sides for the last two rounds. Unfortunately, the heavens opened on both these days so that the new boys will have to wait for next season to be "blooded" into University Cricket.

The Cricket Club is always in need of new players and all prospective players are invited to come along to the initial practices new season which will probably begin in early August (This season the Club is hopeful of entering a 6th team into another competition).

2ND ANNUAL DINNER.

As a GRAND FINALE to the Club's most successful season to date, the 2nd Annual Dinner, held in the University Union, brought the 1962/63 Cricket Season to a close. Although this was only the second dinner held in the Club's twelve years of existence, I feel that the foundation stone of a traditional event has been laid.

Annual Dinners, apart from being "get togethers" foreating, drinking and automobile hijacking, are the functions at which the Club honours its outstanding players, and thanks all those who make it possible for the Club to function and for us to enjoy our season of Cricket.

On behalf of the Club members, I congratulate the reciprocants of the Club's trophies for the 1962/63 Season, and I thank Mr. Oldfield and Mr. Borwick for their speeches which made the function the success that it was. Our thanks are also due to our President, Professor Oliver, for his chairmanship and the Hon. Secretary, Daryl Lacey, for all the work associated with arranging such a function. Last but not least I must thank the University Union for the splendid dinner and for the manner in which it and the liquid refreshments were served in comparison to last year's Annual Dinner.

I am sure we all look forward to the years (1963-64?) when at a similar function both the Municipal and Shires teams will be presented with the premiership cups,

GENERAL NOTES ON THE SHIRES COMPETITION.

The Municipal and Shires Competition first commenced in 1923-24, and up till 1946 grade clubs fielded teams in the competition. Until 1956-57 the competition was unbalanced as some Clubs fielded a side in one division only.

The Club Championship was inaugurated the following Season, Epping being the winners.

Clubs now playing in the competition have built up the following record of Premiership wins...

CLUB.	"A" DIVISION.	"B" DIVISION.	CHAMPIONSHIP.

I report to the Members of the University of New South Wales Cricket Club that I have examined the accounts and records of the Club for the year ended 31st May, 1963. My examination included such test's of the Club's records and such other auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances. In my opinion the above statement of Receipts and Payments represents and true and fair record of the Club's transactions for the year.

SYDNEY: 18th June, 1963.
